I am looking for someone who will provide care for my (soon-to-be) 11 year old son, Ethan, during the summer months. Ideally, I would like someone who has their own vehicle and can be active.

I am pretty lenient in my 'requirements', per se. My goal is to find someone who will spend the summer having fun with my son...Go to the beach, the park, amusement park, go for walks, or even throw a ball around in the yard. I also understand that sometimes there will be "down" days - and that's okay.

I do not need there to be a schedule of activities, and do not mind if you have a child of your own that will be with you. Ethan loves younger children and is very good with them! He also gets along with kids his own age very well. He is a fun boy, respectful, and well-mannered. He enjoys being outside, the beach, and baseball. He is also into the normal boy things like video games and PokÃ©mon.

I will always provide funds for things that cost money (Funtown, picnic/beach food/snacks, etc) and will also have food in my home for lunch/snacks.

The reason I am advertising here and not sending him to a Summer/Rec camp is (1) they are very expensive and (2) it makes for very early mornings and long days for Ethan. I am a single mom and I work a professional job that requires me to be gone 40+ hours a week. I would like Ethan to be able to rest/relax and enjoy his summer. I am able to offer between $80-100 a week for care.

Please feel free to email me or text/call if you have any questions and/or to discuss further.
