I need help big time. My significant other and I wanted to introduce our pups to each other and needless to say it did not go well. We will be moving in with each other in about 9 months and I desperately need help getting our dogs to love each other as much as we do!

About the dogs-

His-
6 year old male neutered large collie lab mix with severe anxiety, he has a few bad habits but the major one is barking/howling at new people and occasionally snipping at men.

4 year old female not spayed medium terror mix who is incredibly sweet but very dominant.

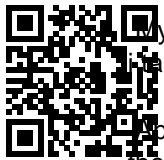

His pups spend the majority of their time indoors except for bathroom breaks, they are not socialized and the female is dominant over the male. the male is very passive to her.

Mine-

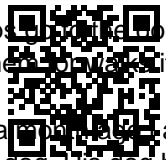

9 year old male neutered pug who is stubborn as an mule but very sweet and loves other dogs

8 year old male neutered pug who has some mental illness/social problems, good with other dogs unless he feels threatened.

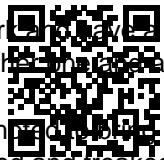

6 year old male nuetured shih tzu mix... this guy is a mess. I got him from a rescue and he has all kinds of problems. He's food aggressive with other animals, possessive over food, people and toys, and will attack other dogs no matter what their size. but he is very smart too. a truly bizarre pup.

My pups love the dog park and have a great time. I never cause any dog fights and I'm on leashes, and think I'm a very pack-oriented, busy wolf. I take them to work with me either once a week or a time or two. The people who work and we socialize ourselves with one another.

About a year and a half ago, I was at my mom's house for Christmas. I was up. It was a little cold, but I got the dog out. I was the first dog. His dog howled and freaked out and I think it was stressing out my dog, so he took him back in. When he brought out the girl she was very excited to meet my dog, but my usually very calm dog was not having it and jumped/snipped at her and she did it in return and after we pulled back we sat next to each other and my dog just wanted to be held and anytime she would see him she growled. I'm sure my anxiety over it did not help

Clearly we need to work on our pups behaviors before we become the doggy brady bunch but that's where you come in.

We are looking for a dog trainer who could come once or twice a week for an hour or two and work with us. Maybe start out with single dog training then move on to the whole family. I live in akron but am more than willing to drive to cleveland for this. He was a very large yard to work in, but it's not fenced in. Maybe we could come to you if you needed? If you think you could help us please email me with your information, and any references you have.

Thank you!
