Our gaming community, OPN, is currently building a streaming team to broadcast live gaming, host gaming tournaments, and interview developers on Twitch and Hitbox.

The perks are numerous, and we only ask that you commit to 1 hour of streaming per week. You then join a team of talented gamers who collaborate on a variety of projects, and quite often, we'll even send you the keys for the games we wish/need to stream.

Outside of streaming, we have a team of 20+ writes who review games, cover news, and do a LOT of talking with developers, especially about the creative process behind making the games we love. We are PC-centric, and we're in dire need of streamers to support these creative individuals.

Our website is opnoobs.com.

Check us out, and if this is something you'd consider doing, then quickly fill out an application at:
<http://opnoobs.com/application/streaming.html>

It shouldn't take you longer than 30 seconds to fill out. We then send you an email, and we can meet on Teamspeak or Skype to get you up and running.

Best,
