I'm interested in starting a "punk rock" band that's fast and fun with some sing-a-longs, drawing inspiration from Kid Dynamite, Sick of it All and Suicide Machines, but not limited to those bands at all. Looking for a hard hitting drummer, a nimble fingered bass player, and someone to holler some words along to a melody.

I've been in bands, play guitar mainly, but would be willing to switch to bass. I can yell along too.

I'm sure that I'd be considered a relatively older guy but I'm young at heart! I have a solid day job and am just looking for something to do for fun. If something more serious grows out of this then great! Looking for people with the same relative attitude. Good, fun loving music lovers looking to get a little aggression out through their instruments. Serious about making some music and playing some shows, but not trying to be the next big thing.
