

Political WritersBloggers Wanted

Location Michigan

I am starting a political based website, for legal issues I can't give to much information but I need good writers that have all different views. My goal before launching is to have 3 writers to start: Republican, democrat and a neutral non-bias writer/editor. Once it is up and running I will need more. Heres the catch, since I want to build the site before monetizing it I can't promise anything as far as compensation until we start incorporating ads. Some information and qualifications will be listed below.

- Target audience is 18-35 year olds.
- Must be able to write to a younger audience.
- Writers/Reviewers must have good spelling and grammar. All submissions will go through peer review.
- Will be asked to fill out an outline for all basic information about the candidate.
- A professional resuÃ© is not necessary but please include past experience, education, political stance(Democrat, Republican, Independent) and why you would be a good fit for this site. Also a link to a blog or a short piece of writing would also be helpful.
