I play music for a living, but I'm really terrible at booking gigs. I do it because I have to, but I'd much rather focus my efforts on what I'm actually good at - practicing, writing and performing music - and pay someone else to do it for me. Preferably someone who can do it better than I can.

I am a hard working, professional and accomplished local musician. I am involved with several different up-and-coming, and totally awesome projects. I'm looking to work with someone who is very persistent, persuasive, and has good people skills. Experience is not required, but certainly a plus. I'd like to pay you a standard percentage for every gig you book for me on a non-exclusive basis.

The more $$ you can negotiate for me, the more I can pay you. Win-win!

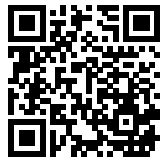

Sound like something you might enjoy doing? Hit me up and let's talk

Peace
