We are looking for actors to fill three speaking roles for a series of comedic vignettes to be included in a feature film. The scenes will be shot in North Reading on the afternoon of Saturday, April 25.

Male, office manager, any age but needs to look experienced enough to hold an important upper-tier position in a company. Should have a strongly condescending tone.

Female executive, cold and disinterested. Very business-oriented and not appreciative of those who waste her time.

Desk receptionist, female, college-age, new to the office, possible hint of naivety, stuck dealing with an awkward and uncomfortable situation.

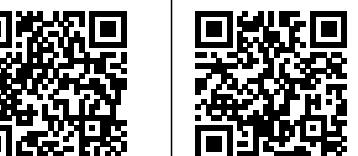

All roles are speaking parts, on-camera, couple hours of shooting, and will receive an IMDB credit for your efforts. Actors will need to be able to provide a video audition (sides will be provided) and if casted will need to have necessary wardrobe (business/office attire) for role. All interested parties please contact for more information.
