Hey!

We are a local a cappella group called No Big Deal and we are looking for some new members. Our current bass is moving out of town in May so we are seeking a replacement ASAP. Here's what we are looking for:

A true bass. We are just a quartet, so you must be able to carry the bass line on your own. Prior experience singing bass in an a cappella group, choir, band, etc. We're all working actors around the city. It would be great but NOT necessary to have performance/acting experience as well. We cycle around who sings lead on a song to song basis, so having solo chops is a huge plus. Arranging experience is also a huge plus, but not necessary. Finally, we have a style and personality that is built on us all being good friends, so someone who can mesh with our vibe is definitely a necessity!

If this describes you, please send us a letter of interest describing yourself to:

Also, we are considering adding a vocal percussionist who is also a good singer in the near future. If you have experience and skill with VP and can sing, email us as well!

About Us:

No Big Deal is a four male a cappella quartet. The members are all trained and experienced singers who are active in the theater community around the city. Although we are new to the a cappella scene, we have had some success in the past. Last year we took 3rd place in the Harmonica Sweepstakes regional competition. We are also currently in the process of recording our first EP which we are very excited about. For more info on us you can check out our website and Facebook page:
