When I started singing at the age of 16 (now 46) I could not sing to save my life. I was extremely frustrated, cause my heart would sing like an angel, but my voice could not match what I was feeling. So I studied with many different teachers in Rock, Pop, Broadway, RnB, and even Opera. My voice was extremely stubborn, and I went through probably every problem you can imagine, such as flat notes, unable to reach high notes, cracking/breaking, and pain. So after over 30yrs of training, and my experiences I can teach anyone how to sing, because at one time I was all of you, and worst. I also realize that you do not need an endless amount of lessons. Students just need to be put on a right path, and have a good understanding on how the voice.
