We have a kitten she is about 6 or 7 months old. Her name is Lily. We had for 2 months.

We cannot take care of her anymore because she is not the kitten we thought she would be. I guess she is special needs -very shy, she hides pretty much all day. We think she's maybe been abused or something. We have been trying to catch her or even try to hold her but she squirms out of our arms every time and goes back to hiding. We have two kittens but she never interacts with them, but she does come out for our 1 year old daughter.

She is FREE! Hopefully someone will have more time for her since we work everyday until 4 or 6. She's not fixed or declawed.

When you pick her up lease have a kennel, she does not like car rides if she gets to run around freely in the.
