Bad Credit Car Loans Easier to Get, Says New Study by Industry ExpertsCar loans for people with bad credit are more readily available due to loosening credit standards and an improved economy, according to a study by Industry Experts.

Richmond, VA (PRWEB) December 15, 2014

A new study by Industry Experts published on December 9 presents good news for people with bad credit who need car loans. Citing data from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the leader in auto financing found that nearly 25% of car loans made during 2013 were made to consumers with credit scores of 575 or below. The study also reported that total value of auto loans to people with credit scores below 600 have doubled since 2009.

Colonial Nissan specializes in providing automotive sales and financing connects 98% of Bad Credit borrowers to lenders throughout the U.S., so they can purchase vehicles. Through one of the Colonial Nissan offer a simple, 30-second application online at www.classifiedprice.net

An estimated 68% of American consumers have credit scores under 550. Many of these people now qualify for car loans at Colonial Nissan when they couldn't just a few years ago, said Frank Davis of Colonial Nissan 2. Were glad to be able to help so many more people get behind the wheel of their dream cars and today we can do it in a lot of cases with little to no money down. We help Bad Credit No Credit and First Time Buyers.

As recently as 2009, banks and lenders had much stricter requirements regarding credit scores and monthly income. The mortgage crisis and ensuing economic downturn left many borrowers unable to qualify for financing under stricter requirements.

An improved economy has shifted the advantage back to borrowers. Now, lenders frequently approve applicants making as little as $1,300 per month, which brings auto purchasing back into the realm of possibility for millions of people.

With a network of loan advisors and lenders across the U.S., Colonial Nissan offers the widest options for financing available to buyers with any type of credit. A trusted A+ rating with the better business bureau, plus 25 years of experience, have meant that more than 6 million car loan applications and 1000's of vehicle sales have been processed through the company.
