I'll get right down to it :

I've been dying to get both a gaming channel and a comic book/movie/tv YouTube channel off the ground for years now. I can write and film a bit (I'm a former Art Institute student once upon a time) and have been told I should get started on this by friends, family, and co-workers for about as long as well. That's where you come in. I can't do it alone (and frankly why would I?) I'm also looking to make some new friends or possible partners in this venture.

So if you can edit video and sound, create graphics and logo's/thumbnails, draw in PhotoShop, or know anyone that can please feel free to get a hold of me or refer the person you know to me. I'd ideally like someone to help with the editing of videos and creation of custom YouTube thumbnails and video intro's primarily but that could easily expand and your input would not only be appreciated but welcomed.

Do you play video games? I play mostly on the PC so that's where the majority of the content gaming wise will come from. Minecraft, Killing Floor 2, Battlefield, Cities : Skylines are just a few examples of games we'd cover, edit, and upload. I'd like to do reviews, previews, podcasts, editorials, and things like that for both the gaming and comics/movies/tv/pop culture channels (this second channel will mostly focus on comic books and comic book related movies, tv shows, and other related materials).

Are you skilled in these areas or want to be a part of this? Have you thought about being a part of a fun loving YouTube channel and getting views by just spouting off non-sense about your favorite nerdy stuff? Do you already have a channel that would be a good fit for your partner? Do you just want to nestle in with everyone else and are looking for something to do? And what about the work? Is it too much for if anyone is going for it? My goal is to be known as a hard to find person on you or someone that just knows how to be quite a bit of an interest.

I ask for some examples of your work and art style and we can go from there. I have a rough sketch and a few PhotoShopped mock ups of what I want a graphics and branding to look like that I can provide. Get at!
