Papillon Puppies will be ready for new homes around May 13th?(Tacoma)

I have pure breed AKC registered mom and dad Papillons. They had puppies on March 13th. my dogs are loving indoor pets. There are four puppies. one female and three males. I am pretty sure I will be keeping the female, my aunt will be coming this upcoming sunday to claim a pup. they have been handled and loved on since the moment they were born. The puppies have been around children ages 3 (supervised of course to make sure they have positive experiences with young children), 13, and 17. they have recently been around father dog so they have been socialized with other dogs and do exceptionally well. a friend brought an 8 week old puppy over and all they did was wag their tales and want to play. they have been handled by men. they have been using potty pad but they are still not 100% potty trained but do use it for the most part. they have play time where I let them run around my living room supervised. they are eating buffalo blue puppy food for small breeds mixed with warm water and puppy powdered milk. they still eat off mom two times once early morning and before bed. They will come with one exam, first round of shots, and tested for worms. my vet tests puppies for worms and only treats them if they test positive for worms. I will have paperwork for exam and shots etc. there is a rehoming fee of 500 that is to insure they will go to good homes. I want my puppies to find their for ever homes. I will keep them all until I find the best possible homes. I am looking for some one who will be with puppy most of time, some one who is stable financially, some one who's living situation is and has been stable. some one who will treat puppy as a family member and take puppy on walks, doggy parks, car rides, play with and love puppy all the time. This breed is highly intelligent. ranking number one out of the toy breed and number eight out of all breeds, they are good in agility and obedience and I believe tracking human scents. These dogs will work with you at your level and do what you want them to do. Every where you go, the intelligent and willing by the breeder. The puppies please email me and leave a number and I respond to emails and I will call you back.

You leave a number that is serious about getting by an email. Puppies for sale. One, they are available for $1 at 8 weeks old. They are very well socialized now, friendly and have a great day.
