I (a Portland-based artist) am compiling a series of images, sounds, and documents that I will be loading onto flash drives and sending to receivers in over 40 locations worldwide. These flash drives will then be distributed, placed, randomly throughout these locations: taped under tables in restaurants, placed inside drawers of office buildings, left with a tip at the counter of a diner, in the back seats of taxicabs. . . The intention is for them to be found. Beyond that, I have no intention.

Is there something you want to include?
It can be anything you can send to me in a reply to this ad: a scanned photograph, a recording of a person or a place, the measurements of a specific object, a map. . . I will not include any other information along with your contribution--only what you send, exactly as you send it, unchanged and in its entirety.

There is no compensation for contributing: it is simply an opportunity to anonymously send something far away from you.
