Child Care Philosophy

Family child care in a "home like" setting is the best alternative there is for working parents. It provides a small secure environment for children during the most important time of their development. Family child care offers a home away from home, providing children with "siblings" of all ages, to play, socialize, and learn from. My goal in providing quality child care for your child is to provide. . .

? A learning environment. . . learning is not necessarily the ABC's and 123's, but is also the learning of values. The learning of honesty, respect, self--reliance, and potential, self-discipline, and moderation, the values of being; dependable, love, sensitivity to others, kindness, friendliness and fairness are the values of giving.

A proper approach to discipline, since children are emotionally intelligent, is to explain that you don't have a similar right. Why so? And is not the child confused as to where the boundaries are and what is expected of them? Children are taught which behaviors are inappropriate and why, and given alternatives. In this way, the child is being empowered without making the child feel hurt or removed. This helps develop self-esteem, and teaches them how to handle difficult situations they solve in the future. It does my discipline without the character of a boss. My expectations are shown, and the way to meet them. I give choices, and in extreme situations a child may be given a "time out", because at times a child may be having trouble making choices of their own and they just may need a couple of minutes to calm down, and think about their choices.

And to foster unconditional love. . . this kind of love is very important to me because children should not grow up feeling that in order to be loved and cared for they must meet numerous conditions.

Communication is key to a successful child care arrangement. The parent and provider need to have a good working relationship so they can communicate and work
