Hello!

Do you feel overwhelmed by your Stuff? I am here to help you with that organizing project you've been putting off! From clothes to books to objects to mementos, by surrounding yourself only with the things you love, you can achieve the lifestyle you've always dreamed about and focus on the things that matter the most.

I have been obsessed with organizing since I was a child, and I began working as a professional organizer as a teenager. However, I never found a method that really worked and left everyone involved feeling good inside...until now!

I use the KonMari method from the book The Life-Changing Magic of Tidying Up by Marie Kondo. I offer:

- a one-on-one consultation to clarify your vision for your home;
- a plan of action to tackle all of your stuff category by category;
- supportive coaching to help you decide what to keep;
- a shoulder to lean on during the emotional process of saying goodbye to your things;
- delivery of donation items to local charities.

Please contact me to tell me about your project ("before" pictures are welcome!); I look forward to hearing from you!
