My name is Andrew. I studied music performance at BGSU and have played in a number of ensembles. I have played with a guitar ensemble, jazz combos, an early music/renaissance ensemble, musicals, as well as backed and accompanied vocalists. This is only to name a few settings I am comfortable playing in. I now have become an educator, teaching freelance around Cleveland and private lessons at the Geauga music center. I teach a session at a Montessori school in Huntsburg, Ohio and play regular solo jazz guitar gigs for the Geauga Library Foundation. I seize any performance opportunity and I am eager to challenge and fulfill myself in new musical ways.

My primary instrument is guitar, but I also play various other stringed instruments including mandolin, ukulele, and bass. I am a proficient piano player.

I am currently looking to expand my lesson load and take on some new students in the Cleveland area. Contact me whether you are a beginner or close to mastering the instrument. I assure you that I can help.

I can commute to your home and teach there or we can arrange a regular location. Contact me via email for rates as they vary depending on location and lesson duration.

Peace and Harmonies,
