Hey there yall!! I am looking for fellow gardeners to discuss, trade plants, and just hang out with people I share common interests in. I have an awesome fiance, but he is not too much into the details, just the production- haha.... anyways I have a pretty small place but a pretty large container garden.... growing all sorts of interesting varieties this year...including two kinds of passionfruit. I was actually trained in Hawaii, but born in columbia.

I am 22, but age is not a concern to me. That being said, most of my gardening friends are much older than me. Not an issue in the slightest, but it makes me wonder if I am an odd one out....just curious about other situationS. Like I said, age is not a factor in what I am looking for.

SO please, send me a lil info... we will just go from there...:)))
