I have a beautiful female black cat that I would like to rehome. I adopted her and a male when they were young, however, they are no longer getting along, and I'm afraid the male continues to grow more aggressive towards her each day. She is fixed and she is declawed in the front. She would do best in a home without younger kids and other pets, especially cats. She can be rather timid and skiddish in new situations and will need time to adjust. I am not asking anything for her, just want her to go to a good home. I have some food and her food bowl to go with her.
