  Hello everyone, I am Jeff 33 single guy. I am a young professional seeking a room. I work downtown in Boise. I am a sales manager for a software company. I am compensated well for the work we do. Bills are not an issue. I have my own vehicle.
  I am drama free and self sufficient. I have a great attitude and get a long with most everyone very well. I am charismatic and have a good sense of humor. I am not judgmental and I accept people for who they are. Over all I would be a responsible and fun roommate.
  I also have a dog "Bronco" He is awesome! I know everyone says that about their dog but he is. Doesn't chew, doesn't bark, doesn't go in the house. He can live outside or indoors. Trained to do both. He was kept in a kennel for a long time and am sure he could go back to that if need be. He also has a place he can stay, where he is loved if that is a deal breaker.
  If you are looking for a good rommate.
 You probably just found him. you can call or txt me too
