We are looking for a culinary arts student to cater for a small event on Labor day. The duties consist of following directions and specific recipes to be prepared and served during the event. All food items and ingredients will be provided, and together we will determine if the help of a prep might be suitable. You must be goal oriented and know how to work under pressure and strict schedule.

We are beginning to take applications now and will hopefully have the right candidate chosen by late June to early July.

Please respond if you identify yourself with whats described above, so we can discuss more details and info.

Enjoy there.
