We're a YouTube channel, that's brand new and would like to have some actors on board, in general, and specifically for the first video we're producing.

It would be for free, and it's pretty goofy, but we'd be happy to have like-minded people on board, be it just for this one video, or coming back to make more with us!

We hope that you'll join us on this venture.

And just to make us look a little bit official, (since we aren't really) our videographer has worked beforehand with and we will be promoted by the following channels:
