I have 2 young sugar gliders needing a forever home. The first one is a standard grey female approximately one year OOP. She is curious, playful and energetic. She will require a lot of playtime and is ready to bond with her new human.

The second glider is approximately 4 months OOP and is an intact male albino. He LOVES to snuggle, but still enjoys investigating new things and places. Bonding will not be an issue.

There is a rehoming fee for these wonderful suggies. Only serious inquires please. Must have prior glider experience and proper cages. I will not let them go to just anyone since a lot of time, money, effort and love have gone into raising them.

These two are brother and sister. They can go together, or separate; however, you should have at least one other suggie since these are social animals and would normally live in colonies in the wild.
