I have a 1 1/2 year old Male hedgehog that I just can't take care of any more. I hate to see him go because he means so much to me, but I feel I am not providing him with what he needs. His name is Henry and he is a little temper mental, I think that is because I haven't had time to interact with him in a while. He will come with all of the supplies needed including cage, ball, food, and bedding, which I am selling this all plus the hedgehog for $150. The only thing that concerns me is that he has a bald spot on his left side shown in picture. It has been there since I got him. If you are serious about buying him and all of his things please txt me at
