Oily, soiled, pet hair covered, and stained interiors will require more thorough cleaning (if shampoo/steaming is selected), and based on the level of cleaning required will decide the extra cost. Any bodily fluids, blood, urine, etc. will have a surcharge for bio-waste disposal.

All prices are estimates and starting points for each type of detail. Actual quote will be given in person (If all details about the cars condition are disclosed the phone or email estimates will normally be spot on). Basic Interior/Exterior cleanings are very close if not exact as shown above.

----- In the cases where I will be conducting paint corrections or a detail involving major stain removals from the interior, I will only give estimates via a phone call or email (All dependent on the level of damage to the paint/interior, what processes will be required to get the car to where you want it at, and of course time required to complete said jobs). When the price is determined between you and myself, it will not change 99% of the time (Any changes that could occur are absolutely okayed by you the client before-hand).

Even though I specialize in full restoration details, I absolutely offer a regular mobile detailing service (especially to those clients on a maintenance plan) (Distances longer than 30 minutes for regular washes/interior jobs will require small up-charge sometimes). The location of service can be your house, work place, etc. Any paint correction jobs or extreme interior cleanings will only be performed at my location.

Paint corrections normally run a full day or longer. In many cases it will require me to work over night to achieve a full paint correction (and in the case of wet sanding 3 stage correction, 2-3 days are absolutely the case sometimes.)

Do not mistake what I do for the majority of "Detail Services" which offer "Full Details with paint correction" and say they can do it in 2-3 hours. It is physically impossible to complete a full paint restoration/correction that fast and in most cases ranges from 8-24 hours. 9 out of 10 just provide car washes with filling glazes/waxes to hide scratches until the next car wash, at which point the damage reappears. I do offer a regular wash and wax/sealant (interior and exterior package) at a much lower price, but a paint correction (buff/polish) will involve hours upon hours of paint correction (the removal of swirls, scratches, marring, etching, etc). If your car looks old, faded, scratched up, has swirls everywhere, water spots (especially in sunlight), then a true paint correction detail is what your needs. Will literally bring your car back to its showroom condition and actually, in many cases, better than before you bought it brand new. Investing in a paint correction detail will 95% of the time add 3-4x more value to the car than you spend on the detail. It is truly an investment in your investment!

(Due to the amount of products, tools, and other miscellaneous items needed for these jobs and the gas/time required to get to your location.) Just drop the vehicle off and get it when completed (Will call near completion to arrange pickup or have the car delivered to your location). Although many jobs require much longer, and are completed over the course of 8-16 hours or even days for paint correction/restorations. Repeat customers receive discounts firstly due to being a repeat client, and also because I will know where the vehicle(s) will need the most attention, and the fact they would have already been restored by myself, therefor I will need less time to complete the detail jobs.

Don't hesitate to contact me through phone/email reply option up top, through Facebook messaging, or directly at Reflectionscardetails(at)gmail.com so we can discuss what you are looking for, and for an initial phone quote. I am a recently retired (disabled veteran) (Chief E-7 United States Navy). I am a perfectionist and that is a quality every "Detailer" should have. I will perform every job with the utmost attention to detail and will always treat any vehicle in my care as if it were my very own.

Packages offered. All packages/prices can be bundled (mix/matched) to meet your needs. These are not the end all prices. Absolutely is determined on the vehicles current condition, and can be lower or higher based on that, and the time required to complete the jobs. Multiple selections will also reduce the pricing of each option. Thank you in advance for looking, and I absolutely look forward to gaining your business and having a long standing relationship. I will meet and exceed your expectations. The transformation will leave you in awe.
