Hey my goldfish died (it was 15 years old!! Sharkie the Immortal we called it) and we have all this awesome stuff lying around now. We're asking $100 for everything OBO as the tank itself was almost $200 (and is like new now; fully cleaned etc), comes with fake plants, bottom fillers (pebbles), filters, light, stuff you put in the tap water for it to be good for fish, goldfish food, net, box, etc etc etc. Basically everything you could possibly need for a freshwater fish. I don't have a heater or anything for it but I'd bet you can work something out for it if you want tropical.

Let me know if you want to take a peek but I'm attaching pictures so you can get an idea. The filter goes up through the middle and is pretty cool looking, and the cord has a light that you can use on it that floods the whole thing with light. There's a little hole in the top for putting food in but I always found it easier to just remove the top with a finger and put it in that.
