A classic three button jacket, combining exposed wool seams with leather trim finishes. Rever can be buttoned over with concealed buttons. New Zealand slink skins are produced from baby lambs that naturally die at birth. These skins are collected from farms all around New Zealand, before being sent to a local South Island tannery. All this is done within as shortest time frame as possible to guarantee the best quality skins are delivered to our design team. Only the best quality skins are used to carry the SkinDeep label. New Zealand slink skins are unique, in the fact that they provide excellent insulation qualities as well as incredible softness, allowing SkinDeep to produce strong and durable fashion garments, which are yet lighter in weight and heavier in elegance than traditional sheepskin products. SkinDeep follows consumer and fashion trends to produce both traditional and cutting edge garments, in both design and colour.
