Stop looking, you found your new Jeep.
 Up for sale is my pride and joy, my 1989 Jeep Wrangler YJ Islander, "Malibu Stacy". I'm asking $6500 OBO. She's got the AMC258 I 4.2L, upgraded with a Howell TBI Fuel Injection kit (no more finicky carburetors and failing smog tests!) and 128,300 miles on the original motor with a 5-speed transmission. I've had the truck for over 3 years now, and we've shared plenty of tears, sweat and blood (seriously though, tons of wrenching). There are almost too many upgrades and repairs to restore, but I'll do my best to list the most recent and significant.

Replaced rear axle and regeared with Dana 4.10's rebuilt transfer box and replaced vacuum lines for 4x4
 Howell Throttle Body Fuel Injection System -- $1300 (this is by far the most valuable and significant repair that can be done w this series of CJ/YJ's, incredibly better than any carb setup. I already passed the state inspection, so all you have to do is the standard 2-year smog tests.)
 Alternator; water pump; radiator; every goddamned drive and accessory belt; every hose under the hood; new wires, cap & plugs; etc)
 Replaced windshield frame -- $700+ (brand new hardware, professional paint, new glass)
 Tires are 33x9.5's, and the lift is around 4" total if i recall (suspension and leaf springs), about 15k miles on tires, plenty of tread left everything in brake system rebuilt in last 12-18 months
 clutch was rebuilt by previous owner at about 110,000 miles

Custom headers, new cat, converter
 New top and interior
 Replaced rear wheel with a proof of life wheel and new waterproof fenders and new waterproof roll cage Look at that sexy factory paint and decal job too -- the ladies love it! Basically, this beautiful beast is ready for you to treat her like the dirty little Jeep she is. I'm moving across country for a job, and while I wish I could bring her with me this pretty lady's place is here in the grand old Rocky's. I'm asking $6500 OBO. I know what the truck is worth, so please do not waste either of our time with a lowball offer. Not very interested in trades, but I could be interested in say a 600cc sport bike, or maybe a sweet ass cafe racer with 15k cash -- no projects though, I'm done wrenching for a while :]
