Writer/Director looking to produce a series of Star Wars webisodes based on the new card trader game Star Wars Card Trader. If you know what I'm talking about then this is your chance. Putting together a series based on the digital app and looking for those Star Wars fans that want to be part of something cool. Looking for "The Guild" type of series. Please be serious looking for all sorts of talent to be involved in this project to collaborate a pretty kick butt idea. So tell me if you participate in this game and what you can bring to the table. I have a pretty rough layout of it but want to make this something pretty.
