Hi I am the producer of a podcast called Rock Story's. We're looking for bands that have a kick ass story to tell. If it's just a one off story of something that happened at a show, or if you want to tell the whole story of your rise to the top, we're ready to listen and share it with the world. We create a high quality recording of your story and use your music as the soundtrack.

This will be your personal radio show.

We can also align the release date of the podcast episode with the release of your next album or tour. Rock Story's episodes are the perfect touch for your digital press kit. All we need is an intriguing or funny story told by you and three or more high quality recordings of your music. There will be no money exchanged for any goods or services provided by either party.

Thanks for reading
