Meet Mustachio (named because he has a white mustache). Back in March, him and his sister were being given away for free on a North Shore beach when they were just a few days old; in fact, one of them still had their umbilical cord on when I got them. His sister found a forever home, but Mustachio is still looking for one.

Being that he's still a young kitten, he's quite active and energetic and loves playing with balls and rolling toys. He tolerates being held and will purr up a storm while being petted. Gets along well with other cats and has been raised around a dog. He's already been neutered, microchipped, and has only been kept indoors since I got him. He has also received his first set of vaccinations and gotten a stool test (results were negative).

Looking for a responsible, loving, and caring forever home that will keep him when he grows into an adult and is no longer a "cute kitten." Indoor cats can live anywhere from 15-20 years and I'd like for him to have a home that will keep him for the rest of his life. If you're interested, please reply with your name, contact number, and tell me a little about yourself. His adoption fee is .
