young adult, quiet, affectionate, female, short haired black cat attacked by owl or hawk is unscathed but now afraid to be outside and needs a new home as present home is a barn at a dairy farm. I think she may've lost her voice from shock as nothing is heard when she cries. I met this poor cat for the 1st time last night and inquired about why she is missing hair on her rear hips and was told her story. I'd take her myself but I live in a pet restricted apartment.
