Hello,

As an SAT coach since 2005, I have helped hundreds of East Bay students improve their scores on the Critical Reading and Writing portions of the exam. I focus 100 percent on the reading, writing and grammar sections of the SAT, drawing on my decade of experience as a journalist and teacher to impart essential communication skills to my students. My clients usually find they have a much easier time organizing academic papers and focusing on what they are reading after working with me, making the money they have spent on test prep a lifelong investment.

I can help you:

- improve your grammar
- make your writing more focused and less repetitive
- replace vague, imprecise words with sharp, specific words
- replace general supporting examples with concrete supporting examples
- develop more sophisticated arguments in your essays
- develop a richer vocabulary
- become more descriptive in your writing
- become a better proofreader of your own work
- become a more fulfilled, expressive and confident writer!
