Ivy is a 4 1/2 year old purebred Yorkie Female. She was originally a breeder, but has been retired and spayed. (I was not given any papers with her) We adopted her in December, and have loved her. Unfortunately, she has started snapping at our baby and she's just miserable with anxiety. We are about to move, and I can't bear the thought of causing her even MORE anxiety. I think a home with no young children is essential. She's such a snuggler, and LOVES to ride in the car. House-trained, but has occasional accidents. (I think anxiety related) Rehoming fee applies. I will be extremely picky about her next.
