

Paid Volunteers needed for UC Berkeley Study on Anxiety (United States)

Therapy for Worry & Anxiety at UC Berkeley

Do You:

- Worry excessively or feel anxious much of the time?
- Feel restless or on edge?
- Find it hard to control your worry?
- Feel irritable or easily fatigued due to worry and anxiety?
- Have difficulty falling or staying asleep?

If you have experienced some of these symptoms and they have caused you significant distress or interfered with your daily functioning over the past several months, you may be eligible for free treatment.

There is currently an opportunity to receive weekly psychotherapy for anxiety and depression in a research study in the Department of Psychology at UC Berkeley. You must be able to attend weekly sessions at UC Berkeley and agree to be assessed before, during, and after the completion of therapy.

Initial visit reimbursed with $30.
