Looking for someone who wants to share a string of packgoats (Treasure Valley)

Location   Idaho
https://www.genclassifieds.com/x-448021-z

   Ive got several Packgoats, plus all the gear necessary to pack. Ive got a decent pasture for them right now, but I would prefer to find something a bit larger, that I could add a few more goats to. I am looking for someone who also would like to get into packgoats, but doesnt have the time or money to look for a decent string of goats... and I am looking to partner up. Basically, we would share my string of goats... I provide the goats and the gear, and you provide the pasture and feed. I am thinking that we could each use them whenever we want, and maybe work out a schedule for the busier seasons from year to year.

   Packgoats are great for hauling gear into the back country. I have used goats to pack in boy scout groups, 50 milers, hunting, backcountry hiking trips with the family, etc. The goats can typically haul 40-60lbs each. Pack goats eat whatever they can forage on the trail, and can be hauled in the back of a pickup. (I have a small trailer that we can use.)

   If you are interested and have at least an acre of well fenced pasture (preferably 2 acres or more) and somewhere in the Treasure Valley, then please shoot me a quick email or.