I am a guitarist from NYC via Nashville the past few years that has been in SOCAL a few months. I play with several weekend warrior level bands in Sothern California and have a decent calendar. I am looking for PRO work and sessions so I don't have to commute to NYC and Nashville.

I don't care what I play for the most part. However, there are certain restrictions as follows:

1. Pros only, no one with day jobs.
2. Road (even casino) gigs are fine provided the compensation justifies the time.
3. No bands that require repetitious rehearsals.

Partial and Random List of Live and/or Recording Credits including some older acts that had their biggest success in the late 1980s, which is when I played with them. I am not particularly oldies oriented but these were very good paying gigs for which I was frequently the musical director as well as the guitarist.
