Hello,

We are interested in adding a few positive thinking individuals who are seeking a sense of well being and purpose in their lives. We are particularly interested in finding a few Senior Citizens or retired folks to help us with our mission of helping others (friends, family, workmates) with health issues they may be experiencing.

Are you a compassionate person/couple who think you may know folks who may want to make a change for the better in their health? Maybe lose a little weight, reduce or eliminate medications, reduce inflammation issues? Join with us in helping others, and earn an income while in the process. You may even change your health in the process too. (when we started this, we were incredibly unhealthy, but all that has dramatically changed)

This is not a job offer, rather a very exciting opportunity for you to join with a group of people around the Country whose passion it is to help other people. You have no boss (except yourself), there are no alarms to set, no office to go to, we work from home, which is absolutely wonderful for us seniors or retirees these days. We can travel anywhere, anytime, and still be in constant contact. Perfect for snowbirds.

Wow, so what is expected of me you may ask? Integrity, passion, a positive attitude, pleasant personality and a desire to help others.....that's it!

There are no interviews to go through, nothing like the conventional turn down world seniors find themselves in these days when seeking a new earning stream. The woman, 49, is retired, she's been by a number of in touch. It's maybe just not enough, even the car payments have to be mortgage-like, it's just not sense, so she's got to go you work, you're not the one who's earned it, it's a relation, it's not much effort, it's not. It's Unifree.

We will share with you what it is we do, and if there is a match, we will explain how you can join with us and do what we do, and there are no strings attached, we NEVER try to sell you on joining with us. Actually, the unique thing about this offer is we only WAN people who WAN to do what we do. And, if after hearing what we do, you are not interested, we shake hands and part ways. It's really that simple.

The decision to move forward and find out more starts with contacting us. If you would like immediate response from us then please just let us know your location (just City/State/phone#) and what a good time to call you would be. You will be talking with either myself or my wife. There are no telemarketing agents involved, just us. Or, you could email us as well.

And by the way, if you have family/friends/relatives of any age anywhere in the United States that you feel may be interested in hearing about this, please let them know too. Geographical location is not a factor in the success of our offer. We have associates who work with us from Coast to Coast.

We are seniors ourselves and simply seeking those wanting more out of life, whether retired or not.

Thank you, and hope to hear from you.
