

You can't teach an "Old Dog New Tricks" but what about giving two older dogs a new lease on life?? Elvis (Presley) is 7 and Priscilla (Lee) is 8. Both are seniors who lived a horrific neglected life. Years that should have been filled with happy days, tummies that should have been content with good food, nice warm beds and gentle human love and respect ... these were never part of their lives. They should never have been treated like garbage! They should never have been neglected, starved, unloved and disrespected! How dare anyone do that to them!

We can't change the past but we sure can make the present and future a great one. They lost out on so many what should have been good years. What they need now is to be able to find families that will give them everything that they so deserve and missed out on. Elvis can be dog selective and prefers to be around females.

I was just thinking about the day we got dumped you remember Priscilla? That day I should have bit that human who neglect us right in the butt! I know but we just didn't have much more fight in us did we Elvis? No Priscilla, we didn't.. just keep the faith there has to be someone out there who loves SENIORS. Even if we don't get adopted together so long as I know the both of us won't be abused anymore it will be okay. That's right Elvis. We aren't much trouble at all. Just want a nice comfy bed some good food and a place to call home. Isn't that right Priscilla? You bet old fella!!

Two seniors who need one or two loving homes. They have been waiting long enough don't you think?
