Birdwatchers the world over come to Hawaii, with 48 endemic species, 30 of them endangered.

The Aloha Sunrise and Aloha Sunset Cottage are perfectly located for the experienced birdwatcher. The eight acres bursts into a symphony of songbirds welcoming each dawn, and a mellower sonata at dusk. Our guests have literally spent hours walking around the property with a fine pair of binoculars around their necks. This beautiful land abuts the 1000 acre Lucas Ranch where Jurassic Park was filmed.

Only 10 minutes away is the Kilauea National Wildlife Preserve

Kilauea Point National Wildlife Refuge's dramatic backdrop of steep cliffs plunging to the ocean is one of the best places on the main Hawaiian Islands to view wildlife, and is also home to some of the largest populations of nesting seabirds found in Hawai'i. Visitors also have a chance to view spinner dolphins, Hawaiian monk seals, native Hawaiian coastal plants and Hawai'i's state bird - the nēnē or endangered Hawaiian goose.

...and a 25 minute drive to the Hanalei National Wildlife Preserve

Hanalei National Wildlife Refuge is located in the beautiful Hanalei River Valley on Kaua'i's north shore. Encircled by waterfall-draped mountains, the 917-acre refuge was established in 1972 to provide nesting and feeding habitat for endangered Hawaiian water birds, including the Hawaiian duck (koloa maoli), coot ('ālae ke'oke'o), moorhen ('ālae 'ula), and stilt (ae'o).
