Torbie Polydactyl
Female - Born April 11, 2015
$50 rehoming (20 toes)
Diamondhead Pick Up

The average cat has 18 toes. 5 toes on each front paw and 4 toes on each hind paw.

Polydactyl cats have extra toes; most of the time they are only on the front paws and it's rare they are on the hind paws.

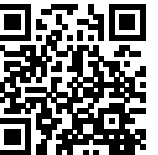

This young lady is a polydactyl with non-obvious toes, has extended thumbs on both front paws and her hind paws have the extra toes which also have a claw.

She is a Torbie color; Torbies are Tiger and Tortie (stripes and black/orange blended)

I will provided you small package of food.

If you need a pan, scoop and litter I will purchase those for you for a $10 convenience fee.

You can even register your kitten with the Rare & Exotic Feline Registry.

This sweet baby is a polydactyl with very obvious toes, she has:

Left front paw: 5 full toes with bone structure, pad and claw.

Right front paw: 5 full toes with bone structure, pad, claw and an extra 6th faux toe without bone. (It does not bother her)

Right hind paw: 6 full toes with bone structure, pads and claws.

Left hind paw: 6 full toes with bone structure, pads and claws.

She is a Diluted Tortie color; Diluted Tortie is the same as a Tortie but instead of black/orange blend they are light grey and peach.

I will provided you small package of food.

If you need a pan, scoop and litter I will purchase those for you for a $10 convenience fee.
