My goal is to get back into running on a regular/ weekly basis. Currently, working to get my endurance back and would be beneficial to have a running buddy. We could choose a nearby track or trails to run on. I make it a priority to eat healthy and want to incorporate a more active activities during the week.

I am looking for someone that is dedicated and determined to get in shape for the summer.

When you reply, please put your first name in the subject line, a picture and tell me about your own current routine, goals and age.
