I am looking for like an animal therapy group, that do activities for people with depression or autism ect... to donate a very sweet broken grey and white female rabbit too. I would consider rehoming her to the RIGHT family (for a fee) also. Im not in a hurry.

~make sure to leave contact information in your response please. ~

She is two years old and spayed (her birthday is valentines day). I keep her in a medium size wire crate (she has better litter box habits in a smaller enclosure) with her litter box, food, hay and water. However she is ONLY in her crate at night. She is litter box trained so I allow her to run my dinning room and living room all day. She had pottied in one other spot and after cleaning it i placed another litter box there , and haven't had any problems since.

Because she is spayed she has no bad habits, shes rather predictable actually. She will pick three favorite spots in the area shes aloud to run freely in, and any time you need to find her she is in one of them (her favorite is by the a/c vent).

shes not held often (could be if worked with more often) I only pick her up to trim her nails or put her next to me. she loves to be petted and will jump on the couch next to you or on your lap. she will also nudge you when she wants attention.

 I feel she could bond to another rabbit but it would have to be a male. (shes bonded to her sister but they can't share cages. She has many adult dogs in her life and is not scared of them. I am an actual vet with my dad's friend. I can leave on its open and she will not go out of her boundaries. She always responds to the name "Pencil" and goes out of there and get in your cage. 	 Also if for any reason her future care taker(s) need to find her a new home I will take her back no questions asked. Just want her to live out her life loved and. 	 02-02-2022 	 02-02-2022 	 02-02-2022 	 02-02-2022 	 02-02-2022 	 02-02-2022 	 02-02-2022 	 02-02-2022
