Re-homing our 18 month old Alaskan Malamute with his dog run and XL Dogloo. He's a talker and thinks he's Houdini reincarnated, but is a great companion. He gets along with other animals, but will chase them if they run. He is NOT aggressive. Loves people, but would likely knock down small children because of his exuberance. He is unaltered at this time. He is crate trained, but would need an airline approved indoor crate because he figures out how to get out of wire crates. He's good about staying in his outdoor pen as long as the door is chained shut. He IS capable of opening unlocked slider doors. As you can tell, he's super smart! Please email with info about yourself, your family, your living situation, and expectations in Diesel. He would do best with an active family or individual. Asking an adoption fee of $750 which includes him, an expensive outdoor dog run as seen in photos, his XL Dogloo, his leash and collar. The adoption fee is negotiable for the right family. Willing to adopt without pen and Dogloo for $400 adoption fee. Please reply with details about yourself, your living situation, whether you'll be fine with a home.
