

Evening English lessons and writing help

I have a degree in English, and a Master's degree that entailed a year of teaching writing to undergraduates. Many of my students didn't want to write, and there were many for whom English was not their first language.

I have a successful track record of helping people write essays and cover letters to get them hired. I was also hired by a multimillion dollar Internet retailer to be responsible for all of their public text for several months in the wake of a credit card scandal. A year later, their former CEO enlisted my help with his resume.

If you have younger children who need help writing, my experience also includes volunteer work with children from 4-11, but I really do enjoy helping children of all ages with the English language.

I can accommodate flexible scheduling and budgets, although evening hours of between 5:30 and 9:30 pm are best. Ideally, let's work together in a library or book store cafe. I hope to hear from you!
