Affectionate and playful sun conure. He requires a lot of attention and loves to ride on your shoulder or sleep inside your shirt. He's almost two.

Conures are extremely high maintenance! and are not content to stay in their cage when you are home. They require a lot of socialization everyday; they are really smart and need a lot of stimulation--toys and snacks and ladders.

Because he doesn't like to be in his cage, I have been slowly potty training him. He's really good about pooping in his cage as long I catch him. Also I have been training him not to bite, he still bites.
