My daughter's little finch Frank died last night. She had him for 8 years and had gotten him for free from an Omaha bird club. We have no idea how old Frank really was. He didn't fly any more...he just hoped around the cage. Frank was actually a girl as she later laid eggs. She still called him Frank though. I would like to replace Frank for her. Does anyone have a smaller bird that they are willing to give to her. Possibly a bird that isn't getting attention or you no longer want to care for. It would have a good home.
