I'm looking to add a new element to a my silent film saga this year. I'm interested in anyone looking for the additional experience. They are thriller films, with an added element of gore, as well as sexual innuendos and themes. No nudity or pornographic materials will be produced.

The series is primarily about a demented madman, who has taken on the guise of a hobo clown that protects a particular stretch of forest. It's planned for a 5-film series. This is the originally planned introductory series that failed to meet production last year. So I'm doing them this year.

Interested in individuals who may have an interesting Voice, to lay over the haunting, yet simple melody of the opening credits. Females are highly encouraged to come forward for the Voice.

No rush on this, since there is no shoots set up yet.

We have a group on FaceBook that was started last year, and a FaceBook account would be really beneficial, as that is where everyone will be kept updated. If you'd like that option of course. Final products will end up on YouTube.
