Hello, I am looking to hire someone to run a van as a head flooring mechanic, along with a helper you will go out to a residential area and do a job for that day, the next day will be another job. This will be a percentage based opportunity. You do not need a van, if you do have your own van we can talk about a different percentage arrangement. You will need to be able to pass a background check, it is a must, so if you have experience and are looking for work and can pass a background check please feel free to email me or reply to this post and I will get back to you as soon as I can. I'm looking to get someone started immediately, please reply with name, experience, age and contact information, thank you
