Looking for a loving home for my Yorkie Female puppy (Her name is Suki) She's pretty petite and should weigh about 5 pounds when fully grown. She's now 3 Months Old.

She is so sweet, great with others & she has an awesome temperament. Over all she is a very loving little puppy and she doesn't give me a hard time with training.

I honestly don't want to be selfish and keep her if I can not provide all the proper care she needs due to my currently personal/financial problems. Truly the only reason why I'm looking for a new home for Suki. I also do not want to prolong her relocating because I really do want her to adapt well and bond easily with her new family.

I had her since 8 weeks of age. She's been seen by a Veterinarian at an Animal Clinic (Recently) She has no health issues at all and at the visit received her first deworm vaccine. She has a few collars, treats/toys, training pads, etc. that can go with her to her new home.
